The semester is dissected into four independent short tasks that aim to develop the students' critical ability to read design briefs, quick question and operate upon a different reality, to develop technical skills as design tools and promote discussion. The four tasks will contribute to the topic Dom Nature by defining characteristic aspects through small-scale strategic interventions.